It has been suggested, willy nilly, that a compilation of better front-page columns and editorials of your Herald be put together, that they had better never been written, that they are misunderstood, that they are seldom of any intrinsic value.

Such a compilation one day will be published, edited, hopefully, to remove deadline typographical errors and omissions, which sometime tend to obscure content.

We endure enmity and experience admiration, totally uncertain as to which percentage applies to what viewpoint. That is the minimum confusion; the maximum comes when we tend to inconsistencies which logic and need at a point in time create. No one knows where an idea ultimately will take him.

We experience the danger of mounting phrases on paper, like some William Buckleyan penchant to dazzling rhetoric which laughs at, rather than savors insight into changing human condition and motivation.

What you don't read in these columns might well be more interesting, from pure readership viewpoint, than what you do. We try to make reason understandable, rising when some light turns on, to an instant of clarity.

Your Herald is one of few American non-dailies to publish international news by Reuters. And the reason is to support in news columns those topics which we have been reading for years and which daily change your lives. Response to this feature material has been encouraging, and it perhaps reassures you that our wide-ranging comment has substance.

The premise of comment is to stir a response to a thesis or idea within the reader, not necessarily to win his approval. Quite often, approval occurs, but other times, some new consideration develops in the interplay of background and rationale.

One analogy to this approach is President Nixon's plan to meet with Mao and Chou-en-lai for substantive talks about a new world power structure. Without a direct exchange of ideas between traditional adversaries, there could be no new positions created.

Recognition of your Herald's comment and criticism has been wide for its ambition in a non-daily. Resentment among the local audience often is rife, because the same stereotype has been held of small publications here as it has often been throughout American journalism. Once in a while non-metro comment is lucky enough to tag issues without the resources of major publications and writers.

We apply a further supposition, which proved to be an advantage for Albert Einstein in his formulation of his first Special Theory of Relativity. His insights arose through basic background in physics and mathematics, but without access to the academic research of established physicists of his day. Regardless, we know more of Einstein than any of his contemporaries. He was a patent clerk in Switzerland, when he postulated on relativity.

It is an advantage, toward fresh insights, not to be reading and hearing the same things everyone else in a field is writing and saying. This is in deed true of your Herald. Access to information here, until recent years, has been just about that of an intelligent reader of national publications.

A remote aspect can often escape clutter of cross reference and comparison. It falls free without promise of value.

Your Herald's comment is substantially local paired with the widest implications measured for our audience. We simply never accepted Central Texas' remoteness from world events, particularly after the Kennedy Assassination.

And so we speak of publishing what has been written here for a dozen years or more. And frankly, some of it is bad. This writer was very young, and by some standards, still is. Which is neither here nor elsewhere because when you put words out, you expect all kinds of returns. The marketplace surveys all kind of products, not just tangibles.

In this business, we are admonished to write like we talk. It is even more interesting to write like we think. If you can convey ideas, you avoid the density of word games and style.

We even, at times, try to be funny. And for those few people who are funny in print, we raise this portable type-writer off the desk. Try humor for a living. Few can do it. And we rarely qualify in print.

We don't always take ourselves seriously in print or in conversation. Knowing standards keeps your place, which of course fails to control ego in the heat of expression.

Words are seen a waste by the younger generation, because they are sometime turned for ill-advised purposes. All are impressed more by action than words.

But, whose ever words they are, have you ever known anything of consequence among men occurring without them?

While words are in vogue, we'll use them. We'll turn you off and turn you on. And we might turn you to something theretofore pointless.

Words are vocal or written energizers. Sometime, even ours.

Yoe High Band To March In Festival Parade

The Yoe High Band will make its first appearance of the 1971-72 school year at the Austin Aqua Festival Twilight Land Parade on Friday, August 6.

The parade marks the official beginning of the Aqua Festival's 10th anniversary. Step off time will be 7:30 p.m. and the parade is to be televised live through the facilities of KHFI-TV, Channel 42, Austin.

The more than 100-unit parade consisting of bands, marching units, and elaborate floats will begin in the Town Lake area and proceed up Congress Avenue to the State Capitol.

Ed McMahon of the NBC "Tonight Show" will be the 1971 Parade Marshall. The Austin Aqua Festival has gained national prominence and is considered the outstanding festival nation wide for the month of August. Along with boating and other water related events, cultural and ethnic activities are highlighted also.

The Yoe High Band for the coming year will number 104 members and is under the direction of Dalton R. F. Harbers.

CTCOG Grant To Combat DWIs

Central Texas Council of Governments, which includes Milam County, will receive a grant from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for $150,350, according to an announcement from Cong. W. R. Poage's office.

The grant is for a multi-faceted attack on driving while intoxicated -- to include special sheriff patrols, special prosecution, and probation activities and action to identify drivers with drinking problems and to assist them in bringing the problems under control.

The actions will be focused on reducing the incidence of driving while under the influence of liquor on Central Texas highways, Poage's announcement said.

sent time. This means that our district will remain intact and will consist of Falls, Milam and Robertson Counties until a new district has been drawn by the legislature.

Kubiak's district was eliminated by the House Bill.

The bill has been criticized as House Speaker Gus Mutscher's plan to get rid of most of his persistent liberal and Republican critics by throwing them into new districts with each other next year.

"The bill which Judge Jones threw out is the most irresponsible act of gerrymandering ever passed in the Texas Legislature and has to go down in history as the most vindictive measure ever passed by both Houses and signed by the Governor of the state," Kubiak stated.

DEBRA COKER

Miss Coker Reigns As Farm Bureau Queen

The Milam County Farm Bureau held its annual Queen contest on Saturday evening and a Cameron girl, Debra Ann Coker, was named the new 1971 Queen.

Voted as runner-up by the judges was Patricia Tepera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Tepera of Buckholts.

The fast moving contest and pageant was attended by an estimated 175 Farm Bureau members and friends in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Milam FB President Edwin Lehmann opened the meeting with a short address of welcome and then turned it over to Wilson Beard of Waco, who served as master of ceremonies.

Miss Coker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Coker of Cameron, wore a formal of white brocade. She told Beard, when he interviewed her on stage, that she liked to work on the family's farm, helping to care for the livestock -- "mostly horses".

A junior in Yoe High School, she said she plans after graduation to attend the University of Texas at Arlington and study medicine and become a doctor.

"It surely was a surprise," she admitted when asked if she had expected to win the queen title.

She was crowned by the reigning 1970 Queen, Linda Synatske, whose tenure ended Saturday evening.

Runner-up Patricia Tepera, in her interview with Beard on stage, said she will attend Blinn College in Brenham this fall as a freshman. Her hobby is sewing, she said, and she was a member of FHA. She wore a white formal accented with a red ribbon.

In addition to Miss Coker and Tepera, other contestants for the queen title were Diane Lucko of Cameron, Betty Margaret Orr of Rockdale, Joyce Swanzey of Cameron, and Carol Tomascik of Buckholts.

An added feature on the program was two tap dance numbers, one a solo by Robin McQuarry. She was followed by Dallas and Austin McQuarry in a duet. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Wernli at the piano.

Judges for the queen contest were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ford of Temple and 23 times in counties which have less than the perfect population -- 75,645 -- for a whole House seat.

At Monday's court hearing Craddick said a number of plans had been drawn up that would violate only one county line or none.

The court's ruling apparently leaves House redistricting tentatively in limbo. The Texas constitution has provisions for the problem to go to a special five-man redistricting board, but by constitutional deadline the special board's authority expires in October, probably before Jones' ruling could make its way through the final appeals process.

Assistant State Atty. Gen. Pat Bailey said Monday he assumed the state will appeal the ruling.

Slow Rains Dent Drouth

Rains that dropped temperatures to fall-like 60s and 80s total 1.55 inch for the first few days of August, denting the drouth of nearly nine months.

Varying amounts of rain fell in other parts of Milam County.

The overnight low of 64 July 30 registered on the city weather thermometer was still above the record low for July, however. In 1967 the mercury dropped to 58. Average temperature for July is around 86 degrees.

Rainfall for July totaled .86, according to city records.

Texas A&M climatologists said the weather set new records last weekend in the College Station area, and similar records were also set in other part of Texas.

Prof. John F. Griffiths of the A&M

Meteorology Department said trends indicate an end to the unusually cool weather. He said records also indicate more summer.

Construction Starts On SW Milam Water Lines

Construction will begin at once on the Southwest Milam Water System which has been in the planning stage for over a year, FHA supervisor Henry N. Ivey has announced. He said a work order has been issued for laying pipelines of the first section of the water system.

The contract to build the big facility was awarded to SACC Construction Company of San Antonio. The SACC will be required to start work on the lines of the first section within 10 days after the work order was signed on July 26. Terms of the contract call for it to complete the project within 250 days.

The SW Milam Water System will be built in sections, Ivey explained, due to its size and cost of construction. As soon as one section is finished, it will be put into operation to serve its customers. Lines for the system will serve rural areas in south and west Milam County and extend into Williamson and Burleson Counties.

The line for the first section will extend from the well at Milano west along Highway 79, then south of Rockdale and Thorndale and into the Shiloh area. It will include about 150 miles of pipeline and serve 447 rural customers.

Later a planned extension of the lines will extend into the San Gabriel and Hare area, Ivey said.

The well to supply the water system has already been completed, he added. It has a capacity of 700 gallons per minute, but it is planned to pump it at a rate of about 420 gallons a minute.

Cost of the initial phase of the water system's construction will be $748,600, Ivey stated. The amount will include a loan and grant from the U. S. Government, and from the sale of memberships in the Corporation to the customers of the water systems.

Council Views Short Agenda

The City Council viewed a short agenda at its regular meeting Tuesday and heard a report on the progress of urban renewal.

Propositions turned down by councilmen included one for disconnecting a street light at a business location during the cricket season. Council noted similar requests had been turned down in the past.

Council also declined a request from the Cameron school board to take on the billing and collecting of school taxes. Discussion centered on difficulties involved with boards of equalization, space for records, and others connected with the task.

A request for street paving was heard from property owners on North Central between 12th and 15th. The council noted a full paving schedule for this year and agreed to put the request on the next year's program.

Ballfield Drive Nets $4,402

House to house drives and individual contributions have raised the Little League ballfield construction fund to $4,402, according to Bill Horning, Little League Association president.

Horning said construction at Cameron Airpark would start in about 60 days and additional fund raising would be delayed until next spring. Estimate for construction of the two fields is $15,000.

Horning said some fund drive workers had not reported to date, but they hoped to have a total for the house-to-house drive by next week. Individual donations may be made in special accounts at Citizen National Bank and First National Bank.

Library Friends Open Membership Drive

Friends of the Cameron Public Library will start its new year with Library Week August 8 - 14 and Membership Day August 9. These are the kickoff events for the annual Friends membership drive.

An open house tea and local art exhibit will be held August 9 from 2 - 6 p.m. at the library, according to Miss Christine Laws, Friends of the Library chairman.

Membership applications are being mailed out to prospective members this week, but Miss Laws emphasized that everyone is invited to become a member of the organization.

Honorary memberships, single or couple, are $25; supporting membership, single or couple, are $15; sustaining members pay $10; individual members $5; and students, $1. Clubs may be honored as Friends of the Library by paying $10 or more.

Five special programs will be sponsored by the organization during the coming year:

In September, the annual book sale will be held, offering used paperback and hardcover books. Anyone who has books to donate may bring them to the library anytime. Date of the sale will be announced later.

On October 20 Robert Maler, director of the Cameron Schools media center, will present "Television in the Educational System."

Children from the Methodist Home in Waco will present a music program January 10 in the evening.

In March, the annual spring art exhibit will be staged by the Texas Fine Arts Commission. Mrs. Bob Ellett will be in charge.

The April program will feature a book review presented by Mrs. Hazel Richardson of Bryan.

Program chairman is Mrs. Dan McDaniel, vice chairman of Friends of the Library. L. W. Stroup Jr. is serving as membership chairman.

Friends of the Library was organized to maintain an association of per-

Kubiak Elated Over Court Ruling

State Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale was elated over the verdict handed down by Judge Herman Jones Monday in Austin on the redistricting suit filed by State Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland.

District Judge Jones held that the legislature's new House redistricting law was unconstitutional after less than a day of testimony.

"This was one of the 17 violations of the Texas Constitution that we had brought to the attention of the Speaker, the Senate, and the Governor," Kubiak said, "and it is regrettable that we must resort to court action to prove that this bill is unconstitutional."

Kubiak continued, "Judge Jones acted in a responsible manner and has issued an injunction to the Secretary of State to stop all redistricting matters at the pre-

Gabriel Construction Funded...

It is likely that construction on the San Gabriel dams at Laneport and Georgetown soon will begin.

Congress has released $800,000 in construction funds frozen since last year and approved $2 millions more for construction on the two of three lakes proposed on the Gabriel.

One most interesting to Cameron is Laneport, which is about 6 miles west of San Gabriel community in Williamson County. It is scheduled to be about 5,000 acre feet of water and have a long retaining wall, at one time said to be about two miles long and the longest of current Texas dams.

The other is on one of the tributaries near Georgetown joining to flow to Little River, which flows from Belton Re-

No one has said exactly how long construction would take, but it would also depend on the allocation of funds each fiscal year. It is likely to be the mid-70s before it is nearly complete.

This proximity to Cameron, about 20 miles from this Milam County seat, will add further impetus to the growing number of projects in the Cameron-Milam area.

This project has been in the talking - organizing - funding stage for about 25 years, perhaps longer. Much of the land acquisition is complete, complete enough to start using construction funds.

It is another major project for Central Texas and one which will shed additional modern benefits on the Milam area.

Will Pigeons Follow....?

Somebody asked where the pigeons will go when their favorite abodes go the way of old downtown construction.

Ol' Ben Milam, hero that he was, may have to suffer the interest and indignity of other statues where pigeons are concerned. The statue of Ben on Courthouse Square may be where they light.

The county's namesake may wish he never said: "Who'll follow ol' Ben Milam to San Antonio".... or across Central Avenue?

CONGRESS ATTACKS NO. 2 KILLER: CANCER

(A bill (S. 1828) to amend the Public Health Service Act so as to promote the public health by strengthening the national effort to conquer cancer.)

SENATOR PETER H. DOMINICK (Colo.) "... I do not think the importance of S. 1828, the Conquest of Cancer Act, can be over stated. It will set up the machinery for a greatly expanded national effort against cancer, the disease most feared by Americans. It has 66 co-sponsors, and is the result of a bipartisan cooperative effort."

SENATOR JACOB J. JAVITS (N.Y.) "... The maturation of this bill and the bringing of it to the floor represents one of the finest acts of statesmanship and cooperation I have seen in this or the other body, and I have served in both for almost a quarter of a century."

SENATOR EDWARD M. KENNEDY (Mass.) "... One of the reasons why we are where we are today is the great interest of the President of the United States in cancer. In several Presidential messages he has stated that cancer was the one area on which he would focus attention with great specificity. He stated he will request of the Congress whatever funds are necessary in order to conquer cancer..."

SENATOR W.L. PROUTY (Vt.) "... 50 million will develop cancer at the present rates of incidence and some 34 million will die of this painful disease. Cancer must be conquered and we as a Nation must commit ourselves to this conquest..."

SENATOR JENNINGS RANDOLPH (W. Va.) "... The American people must be cautioned. The conquest of cancer is not simply a matter of applying money to existing technology, as it was in the case of the successful lunar landing mission. There are many forms of cancer and much about the disease is yet unknown. Break-throughs in medical science are not alone achieved through additional funds, though more funds can always be used. Cancer research over the last decade has convinced people of medicine and citizens generally, that a new focus and priority program can achieve exciting and revolutionary results on many fronts..."

SENATOR ROBERT P. GRIFFIN (Mich.) "... I was pleased to cast my vote with the majority in the Senate in favor of S. 1828, the Conquest of Cancer Act..."

"I hope now that the House of Representatives will act swiftly to approve legislation in order that this hope can soon become a reality..."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

Private Foundations with marble buildings and a limited number of dedicated people will not force cancer from its position as America's number 2 killer. It will take an unlimited number of dedicated people backed by the resources of the Federal Government Health agencies to achieve a victory over cancer.

Governor Proclaims Hiway Week

AUSTIN

The period September 19-25 has been proclaimed as "Highway Week in Texas" by Governor Preston Smith.

By official memorandum Governor Smith pointed out that the Texas highway system encompasses some 70 thousand miles of the nation's finest roads and highways.

"These vital travelways are essential to the continued growth of the Texas economy and form the 'Backbone of Total Transportation' in the Lone Star State," the memorandum said, setting the theme for the annual observance.

Governor Smith cited the Texas Highway Department for more than 40 years of leadership in highway beautification and safety, service and efficiency of the highway system.

He described the Highway Department as "The State's Largest Gardener" which plants more trees, wildflowers and ornamental shrubs than any other organization in the State.

Governor Smith urged "all citizens to lend their total support to the highway program and the Texas Highway Department..."

Highway Department installations across the State will stage special open house and other special ceremonies to mark the observance.

Highway Week in Texas has been under sponsorship of the Texas Good Roads Association

Competition Shaping Up For Two Top State Races

By Bill Boykin

Competition is shaping up in the top two state races for 1972. State Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso emerged recently as a possible candidate for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination. Christie, a 38-year El Pasoan, said he would be reluctant to abandon his state senate place, but he is keeping a close eye on U. S. Senator John Tower's activities in the Senate and considers him vulnerable to contest by a strong Democrat.

Christie's statement was seen as a trial balloon aimed at detecting just how serious Democratic leaders are about fielding a candidate against Tower -- and whether they would consider him as the man to unite behind.

Meanwhile, Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde is declaring his candidacy for governor and asking support in a series of statewide speeches.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, of course, announced his candidacy for governor in mid-June, and already is campaigning (with time out to get married: to the former Mrs. Nancy Sayers of Austin, a longtime friend).

Former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough is still leaving the door open for either a senate or gubernatorial race.

Gov. Preston Smith hints, from time to time, he may seek reelection.

Houston Post President William P. Hobby is the only announced candidate to succeed Barnes as lieutenant governor, but a lot more are expected to follow.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court upheld an intermediate court finding that an individual has no vested "property right" to welfare aid.

In other recent decisions, High Court held:

* A 1966 constitutional amendment does not outlaw use of market value to determine tax value of agricultural land. Kerr County ranchers had contended valuation should be determined on net income per acre from agricultural use only.

* Baptist minister of a church moved into a residential neighborhood cannot be held in contempt of a court order which blocked construction of an animal health clinic on same site.

* Texas law does not require a father to support his illegitimate children. (Only one other state fails to provide for such support.)

* Contractors cannot collect on an insurance policy as the result of fire at a missile site near Abilene from which they had been hired to move property.

* Austin district judge cleared the way for an appellate court test of whether the legislature in effect repealed penalties for possession of LSD and certain other illegal drugs.

* Driver who failed to prove the other party in a traffic accident was not insured cannot collect on his uninsured motorist policy.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith announced the appointment of Mrs. Mary Nell Garrison of Austin to the Board of Regents of Midwestern University, Wichita Falls.

Smith also announced these recent appointments:

* Louis Shanks of Austin to State School Land Board.

* Frank Medina of Austin, Dr. James W. Suffield of Beaumont and Logan W. Wood Jr. of Houston to new Texas Board of Athletic Trainers.

* Charles Freeman of Pleasanton to Board of Directors of Evergreen Underground Water Conservation District.

* Bruce Street of Graham and A. M. Willis of Longview to North Texas State University Board of Regents (reappointments).

* William Harold Pieratt Jr. of Giddings and Taylor H. Jobs of Gladewater to the State Board of Pharmacy.

SENATE "RATED"

League of Conservation Voters rated 11 senators with perfect voting records on seven selected environmental issues this year.

Eight others were given a passing score, and 12 flunked (with less than five favorable votes out of seven). Seven of the latter group who registered two or less votes deemed correct by the environmentalists were put down as having "abominable records."

Senate's record, said the environmentalists, was better than that of the House, though only a "fraction" of strong pollution-control and conservation bills ever passed either house.

LABOR'S ELECTION DAY

August 14 is a major election day for organized labor.

AFL-CIO will select new officers at its state convention in Dallas at that time.

H. S. (Hank) Brown is stepping aside as president. Candidates to succeed him are Roy R. Evans, now AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, and Harold Tate, the organization's education director since 1964. Candidates for secretary-treasurer include Sherman Fricks (Evans' running mate), Harry Hubbard (Tate's ticket-mate) and Henry Munoz Jr. Brown threw his support to Tate, but Evans claims he is ahead.

EXAMINE HUNT LANDS

Parks and Wildlife Director James U. Cross and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong made a helicopter tour of the Canadian River bed to inspect an area involved in a controversy over free public hunting.

Parks and Wildlife Commission June 4 ordered a stop to hunting on state-owned river beds and public lands.

After heated protests from the Panhandle, Commission indicated it might switch its position for Canadian River lands. PWC staff was directed to get more information and make its recommendation at a meeting this month.

BRAND RECORDING

Cattlemen must record their brands and marks, including locations on animals, with county clerks after August 30.

Texas and Southwestern Cattlemen's Association said six months is allowed after August 30 to register brands. Thereafter, brands must be registered every 10 years.

'AFRICAN' COUTURE

Rome, Reuter - Ground hostesses of the Italian airline Alitalia are going African with the introduction of new uniforms in what the couturiers call Sengel Yellow. The uniforms include yellow skirts, blue blouses and waistcoats and blue accessories.

Notice to Long Distance Telephone Users

Effective September 1, the charges for long distance calls within the State of Texas will be changed as follows:

• Rates will be reduced on most station-to-station calls dialed direct, without any operator assistance.

• New one-minute initial period calls will be introduced, at low night rates, for station-to-station calls dialed direct without operator assistance between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m.* This will make it possible to call anywhere in Texas for 22¢ or less.

• Time periods when the various customer dialed rates are effective will be the same as those for interstate calls.

• Rates will be increased on all person-to-person and station-to-station calls requiring operator assistance in any way, except as noted below.*

*Where direct dialing is not available, the customer dialed rate will be charged for station-to-station calls from non-coin phones, on which the caller furnishes the area code and number, and the call is charged to the telephone from which it is made.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

According to an article I read last night to get my mind off the national deficit which I'd been reading about to get my mind off my personal deficit, there were 7 million new bicycles bought in the U.S. last year.

In fact, the article went on, there are now over 75 million bicycles in the country and the experts have spotted a trend, claiming more and more city people are pedaling to work and leaving their cars at home.

"It's faster, cheaper, healthier, and doesn't pollute," they said, urging other people to try it on the grounds that "It may be the answer to the impossible traffic congestion in our cities."

I've thought this over and what they say is true, in the late spring, summer and early fall, especially if you're going down hill.

But when winter comes on, that glorious feeling with a gentle breeze in your face and birds singing in the golden morning hours changes pretty fast when the temperature drops to freezing and you're bucking an icy north wind with coat tails flapping, hands frozen to the handlebars and tears rolling down your frozen cheeks. On a bicycle then is about the last place a man wants to be.

Of course, I guess you could build an inclosed cab on a bike but you'd need a windshield wiper for when it's raining, a defroster, turn indicator lights, and perhaps a heater, and what would happen to you if you fell over while inside with the door shut I don't want to think about.

I doubt if the bicycle is the answer to the cities' traffic and pollution problems, unless everybody was required to work only on beautiful sunshiny days when the temperature is above 50. That might be all right with city people but those are the very days I don't want to work or, for that matter, ride a bicycle.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Each year, millions of people skate uncomfortably close to the brink of bankruptcy. Unwise spending, serious illness, loss of a job, setbacks in business—all these may bring on a fiscal crisis.

But in increasing numbers, debtors in distress are rescuing themselves by a technique known as the Wage Earner Plan. Although administered by the bankruptcy court, it is distinctly different from bankruptcy.

Under the Wage Earner Plan, the debtor agrees to pay off his debts out of future earnings instead of having them cancelled by bankruptcy. Under court supervision, he works out a payment schedule that may extend for three years or longer.

In return, he gets immediate relief from his financial pressures. By court order, creditors are forbidden to garnish his wages, repossess his belongings, or harass him with threatening letters and telephone calls.

True, not every debtor can qualify for the Wage Earner Plan. The court will approve a debtor's application only if he is earning enough to make the payment plan feasible—and if enough of his creditors agree. Furthermore, he must have the moral commitment to stay within a frugal budget during the payoff period.

But the benefits of the Plan are notable. It offers the distressed debtor a chance to "get out from under" with comparatively little damage to his credit record. Also, it may play a major role in preserving his self-respect.

Creditors benefit too. The Plan offers them a reasonable prospect of collecting their debts, whereas in the bankruptcy situation they usually collect nothing at all.

Not long ago a man living on Social Security, overwhelmed by debts, turned to the Wage Earner Plan for relief. Two disgruntled creditors objected that he could not qualify because he was not a "wage earner."

But the court, pointing out that Social Security income is based on past wages, decided to accept the man's application. The court said that in dealing with the problems of debt, any solution that is so good for all concerned ought to be encouraged.

Aunt Sarah, I love you.

Remember my 10th birthday, when you gave me that funny piece of green paper and everybody made such a fuss over it. (Except me.) Frankly, it was a pretty disappointing present for a kid. I couldn't eat it, couldn't play with it, couldn't wear it—and Mom took it away from me practically the minute I got it.

And every birthday after that (and Christmas, too), you gave me another one of those Bonds, you called them. I thought you were pretty gooney.

At least, I never had to guess what I was going to get from good old reliable Aunt Sarah.

And what I got was good old reliable U.S. Savings Bonds.

What I didn't realize then was that you gave me a gift of security for the future. Thanks to you and those Bonds, I had extra funds for college. And they helped when I bought my first new car.

Next week, I'm giving my nephew, Harry, his first U.S. Savings Bond. I know the kid is gonna think I'm some kind of nut. But, someday...

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

County Agent's Notes

Control Mosquito, Protect Horses

By J. D. Moore

Milam County Agent

Considerable publicity has been given to Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis and its impact upon Texas and Milam County as a matter of fact.

Earlier this month our news media asked for information on how many horses we have in Milam County. So far as we know, this information was not available. We have the most recent addition of the livestock reporting service based on 1970 census figures. Horses are not reported in this report.

Older census figures (1950) showed Milam County to have 3,317 horses and mules. The 1960 census figures showed Milam County to have 1,450 horses and mules. A five year projection in 1960 estimated Milam County would have 1200 horses by 1965.

The trend has changed. Riding clubs, horse shows, rodeos, performance shows such as "cutting horse" competition and the like have had a tremendous impact on the horse situation. Our veterinarians are now estimating that 3,000 horses in Milam County will be vaccinated for the V.E.E. disease - maybe more!

Two of our local vets had vaccinated 1500 horses by July 28. Counting the across - the - county line work done, we have had a half dozen or more vets vaccinating horses.

Based on these estimates, maybe we need to offer a few suggestions to help our horse population. Since mosquitoes are considered to be the prime vectors of the V.E.E. disease which attacks horses and, in a milder form humans, Federal, State and local officials are marshalling their forces in determined efforts to provide large scale mosquito control where these pests are a problem.

Individual horse owners can help greatly to destroy mosquitoes and possibly prevent the spread of V.E.E. by eliminating mosquito breeding areas on or near their premises.

Commonly over looked containers such as old tires, tin cans, jars, tubs, bird baths, unused fish ponds, etc., are ideal mosquito breeding places. Also, septic tanks and cisterns are ideal breeding places unless they are kept tightly covered.

Spraying shrubbery, eaves of the house and around windows and doors with malathion will help control mosquitoes and prevent them from entering homes. If there are places around your home where mosquitoes breed, you may be raising the very mosquito which could bite you or your horses to transmit V.E.E.

Insecticides May Threaten Australia's Barrier Reef

By Alistair Ferris
Reuter Correspondent

BRISBANE, Australia

Farmers miles from Australia's Great Barrier Reef may be partly responsible for a serious threat to the existence of this beautiful natural phenomenon, according to a leading scientist here.

One major theory is that the colorful coral reef, which stretches 1,250 miles along the coast of Queensland, northeast Australian state, is being killed off by the Crown of Thorns starfish.

Dr. Robert Endean, of the zoology department at Queensland University, thinks farmers in the north of the state may unwittingly be helping the unfortunate cycle which threatens one of Australia's major tourist attractions.

He has found that the coastal and near - coastal farmers in the rich sugar - growing country are using vast quantities of insecticides and pesticides to protect and improve their crops.

These toxic compounds in turn are swept into rivers, entering the marine food chain and killing off the natural predators of the Crown of Thorns starfish, Endean said.

"Evidence indicates that the poisons - which never lose their concentration - have passed from one link to another and have ultimately destroyed large numbers of the starfish predators," Endean added.

He said the theory was supported by the findings of a British team of 18 scientists which had been investigating the starfish in the Red Sea for some time.

That team discovered that the worst plagues of starfish were in polluted waters immediately adjacent to towns and cities, Endean said.

He has called for a state government investigation on the quantity of insecticides and pesticides used in Queensland and the possibility of introducing control measures.

He said he was not criticizing the farmers. They had used the compounds in a reasonable manner without realizing the damage and trouble that could follow.

Endean has made the problems of the reef - the world's longest - his special study. But not everyone agrees with his theory that the crown of Thorns starfish are in fact likely to kill off the reef altogether.

According to his theory the starfish, a long-tentacled marine animal that exudes slime as it moves along, destroys the coral with the chemical it discharges. Chairman of the Great Barrier Reef committee which has studied the life of the reef and the question of the starfish, Endean helped to have the Giant Triton shellfish - a natural predator of the starfish - declared protected.

But a report to the federal parliament in Canberra by a joint state - federal committee suggested the starfish in fact was not threatening the whole reef.

It said serious damage was limited to some areas between Townsville and Cairns, 200 miles to the north. It also noted that regrowth of coral had occurred on those parts of the reef examined by the committee.

Mechanical harvesting of up to 4 crops of pickling cucumbers each growing season is a possibility for the near future. Current research in the Soil and Crops Sciences Department at Texas A&M, utilizing an exclusive A&M hermaphroditic inbred line of cucumbers (TAMU 950) promises a much increased yield and easier harvesting for pickling cucumbers.

Only the female mosquito bites. Mouth parts of the male are not equipped for biting.

ASCS NEWS

By Douglas Buck

Major provisions of the 1972 program for wheat have been announced. The program provides for an acreage set-aside requirement equal to 83 percent of the farm domestic allotment -- the maximum provided by law. It was further announced that the program will again allow the substitution of feed grain for wheat; that soybeans will be a substitute crop next year; and that barley will be included in the 1972 feed grain program. No limit on wheat acreage will be established for 1972.

These changes in the 1972 programs give the farmer greater freedom to plant the commodities which will earn him the best possible income, without losing program benefits. By announcing these changes at this time, producers will have the information they need to make their planting plans for the 1972 crop.

There is no change in the previously announced 1972 domestic wheat allotment of 19.7 million acres or in the loan rate of $1.25 bushel national average established for the 1971 crop. Farm - stored and warehouse-stored loans and purchases are available to producers who participate in the program.

The 1972 wheat set-aside percentage is based on preliminary estimates of acreage required for next year's production to meet U.S. domestic and export needs. It compares with the 1971 set-aside rate of 75 percent of the farm's allotment.

SUBSTITUTION

Under the substitution provision, acreage devoted to feed grain or soybeans will be considered planted to wheat to prevent loss of allotment. Acreage devoted to wheat or soybeans will be considered planted to feed grain to prevent loss of the feed grain base. This will enable a producer to plant all or any combination of his acreage to wheat, feed grain or soybeans without loss of planting history or program benefits.

As in this year's program, there is no provision regarding excess wheat production in the 1972 program. However, excess wheat stored under prior programs may be released to the extent production is less than three times the domestic allotment multiplied by the farm yield.

As was the case this year, producers will receive preliminary payments after July 1 equal to 75 percent of the estimated face value of the wheat certificate. Any remainder will be paid after Dec. 1, 1972.

The inclusion of barley in the 1972 feed grain program is the result of USDA estimates that feed grain supplies will be adequate in 1972 due to the improved supply of blight-resistant corn seed. The set-aside requirement for barley will be between 20 and 35 percent of the base. The exact set-aside percentage will be indicated when the 1972 feed grain program provisions are announced.

Soybeans have been included as a substituted crop in 1972 in view of the supply outlook. This will also give the producer additional planting options.

Wheat producers in 1972 will receive 100 percent of parity on the production of their full domestic allotment, the same as this year. Face value of the certificates will be the difference between 100 percent of parity on July 1, 1972, and the national average wheat price received by farmers from July through November, 1972.

Under the current program, the farmer may plant as much wheat or any other non-quota crop as he wishes after he has met his acreage set-aside and conserving base requirements. Or, he can choose not to plant any wheat. Crops subject to quotas in 1972 will be peanuts, rice, tobacco, extra long staple cotton, and sugarcane.

Producers are not required to plant wheat to obtain certificates. However, failure to plant or be considered to have planted at least 90 percent of a farm's 1972 domestic allotment of either wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley or soybeans can result in a reduction in the 1973 allotment by as much as 20 percent. If no wheat or substitute is planted for 3 consecutive years, the entire allotment can be lost. All allotments removed from farms will be reallocated to other wheat farms.

Acreage which is not planted due to a drought, flood, or other natural disaster or a condition beyond the control of the producer will be considered planted to wheat. Also, any producer who makes a required acreage set-aside but elects to receive no payment will not lose his allotment.

Processors of wheat for domestic food use will continue to pay 75 cents per bushel towards the domestic certificates value. Again in the 1972-73 marketing year, no export marketing certificates will be issued.

As in 1971, producers may graze set - aside acres except during the five principal months of the normal growing season, but set - aside acreage must be protected against erosion, weeds, insect damage and rodents. In 1972, sweet sorghum again may be planted on the set-aside acreage and grazed, except during the five months of the growing season.

Producers who wish to qualify for program benefits need to sign up to participate. Sign-up dates will be Feb. 28 through April 7, 1972. A producer may participate in the wheat program on any farm or all farms in which he has an interest, as he wishes.

ASCS county offices will notify wheat producers of their domestic allotments and the applicable set-aside for their farms at a later date.

TSTI Sets Graduation

A President's Reception for graduating students and their families as well as staff and faculty members of the Texas State Technical Institute will precede graduation exercises Thursday, August 5.

Among graduates will be three Cameron area students, Aubrey Warrick, Maurice Mikulec, and John Hosch.

Warrick will receive a certificate of completion in meat processing and marketing. Mikulec will receive an associate degree of applied science in welding technology and Hosch will receive a certificate of completion in air-frame mechanics.

The reception will be held in the Student Center on the James Connally campus from 2 to 4 p.m. Hosts for the event will be Dr. Roy Dugger, TSTI president, and Mrs. Dugger.

Graduation exercises are slated to begin at 8 p.m. in the Heart of Texas Coliseum.

Keynote speaker for the annual summer commencement will be Dr. Walter Kerr of Tyler, executive vice president of the Construction Industry Council for Education, Manpower and Research in Tyler.

WHOSE FARM IS THIS? The Herald still has a few aerial photos of Milam County farms that have not been identified. If you recognize this farm, come in and claim the photo -- it is free. The photos were taken in 1958, so some changes may have occurred on the farms.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Danny Phillips

The Milam County 4-H Council met in its regular bi-monthly meeting Monday, July 26 at the First National Bank meeting room in Cameron. The meeting was called to order by chairman, Joseph Jistel. Ricky Richter led the pledge, motto and prayer. Peter Riola reported activities of the St. Anthony 4-H Club. Joseph Jistel reported for Countywide and Peggy reported for Rockdale.

Peter Riola then gave a report for the council on the 4-H County Camp. Peter reviewed the camp activities which was held July 1. Christine Laws reported on the Dress Revue.

After all reports, Council took up new business. The first order was to discuss plans for National 4-H Week. The council decided to buy material to make 3 street banners. These banners will be constructed by the 4-H'ers. Also publicity was planned for the week. The Awards Banquet this year will be held before District Gold Star Banquet and this year will be Oct. 9.

A 4-H family night Ice Cream Supper is being planned for August 28. Each family is asked to bring either one freezer of ice cream or 2 dozen cookies or one cake.

Countywide 4-H'ers are in the swing of things. That statement was never more true than last Monday night, July 26. Some 75 4-H'ers, their guests and parents held a swimming party at the Cameron Swimming Pool.

The party was just one of the summer activities planned by the 4-H'ers. The party started at 7:30 and by 9:30 p.m. the crowd was still going strong. But with 8 watermelons to be eaten, you can't spend all of your time in the water.

So without further delay, the crowd went to the city park and there stuffed themselves on Milam County grown watermelons. The party ended at 10:30 p.m. Everybody had a good time, according to many of the 4-H'ers.

Beet leaves are more valuable food than beet roots. Bear meat is considered quite savory and palatable.

Arizona's Last Wild Horses To Be Given Sanctuary

SACATON, Ariz.

Arizona's last remaining 30 wild horses, near extinction and harassed by drought, soon will be given a sanctuary 15 miles north-east of Sacaton.

The U.S. Humane Society and the Sila River Pima - Maricopa Indian Reservation will thus provide the first wild horse refuge on an Indian reservation.

Harold C. Perry of Phoenix, head of the society's wildlife division, says the wild horse would otherwise disappear, even though they have learned to adapt. In his first aerial survey last February, Perry counted 66 horses; this month, he could only spot about 30.

Some authorities claim there are no wild horses, but Perry found old Pima Indians who say "wild horses have been around their area as long as they can remember." The American mustang is descended from Spanish horses that escaped their masters in the 1400s. They numbered two million before men began trapping them. The Society believes that in all the United States there are only 17,000 wild horses left.

On the reservation they eat Paolo Verde twigs and leaves of mesquite and greasewood trees to keep alive.

The Gila Indians will use the sanctuary as a tourist attraction where visitors can view the animals from jeep - style vehicles.

Initially, food and water will be provided for the horses until the sanctuary, costing several thousand dollars, can be completed.

The six-square - mile area is at the foot of the San Tan Mountains.

What a difference a Gold Medallion would make.

A Gold Medallion means more get-out-and-go time for Mom. More afternoons to do what she likes. Extra hours away from routine chores. Because modern electricity cuts down on housework. In the kitchen, convenient, new electric appliances make cooking and cleaning up easy. With an electric laundry, there's never a weather worry on washday. And the Gold Medallion family stays comfortable year-round with clean, dependable electric heating and cooling. Rooms are carefully lighted for beauty and convenience and Gold Medallion

Home wiring is adequately planned for the future as well as moving-in day, too.

An all-electric Gold Medallion Home is a take-it-easy world. Call your Texas Power & Light office for the names of Gold Medallion Home Builders. Visit a model home soon, and see for yourself what a difference a Gold Medallion can make.

Alcoans Recalled To Work

A number of Rockdale Alcoans on layoff have been recalled to the Rockdale plant to help with stepped up potting work, it was announced by Alcoa officials this week.

A special potting effort is now underway to bring the plant's total number of pots (the carbon lined cells in which aluminum is produced) to as near the 100 percent operating level as possible, according to Works Manager H. F. Chrisko.

"This action," said Chrisko, "is being taken to help relieve the upward pressure put on production costs brought about whenever pots are out of service."

Potline One was shut down in July, and workers were laid off. Although there are several potting crews assigned to the task at the plant at all times to handle normal pot turnover, officials said the laid off Alcoans were recalled to help with the stepped up work.

"The previous work experience and knowledge held by the Alcoans we are recalling should contribute significantly to the success of this program. This effort can help us attract more customer orders through a reduction in the cost of producing aluminum," Chrisko said.

Underground America Luring More Tourists

More Americans than ever before are expected to go underground this year.

The hot summer months especially are likely to find family after family, lured by the promise of adventure, exploring the Nation's cool, dark caverns.

As tourists, most will be guided through the 165 or so caves open to the public. Several thousand cave explorers calling themselves spelunkers will squirm, climb, and wade through hundreds of other caves, some perhaps never before entered by man. Nobody knows how many caves have been found and forgotten at one time or another across the country, but estimates range from 20,000 to 50,000, the National Geographic Society says.

Most American caves are of limestone and are found in a wide band that runs roughly from New England south and west through the Appalachian mountains into the South and central Midwest. Others have formed as lava cooled after volcanic eruptions or as waves chiseled away at cliffs.

Limestone caves are produced by weak carbonic acid formed when carbon dioxide from decaying vegetation dissolves in water. The acidic water seeping into cracks gradually dissolves the rock with spectacular results.

The world's largest cave room in New Mexico's Carlsbad Caverns, measuring 4,000 feet long, 625 feet wide, and up to 285 feet high.

A 60-foot stalagmite built up of mineral-rich water dripping for three billion years onto the floor of Cathedral Caverns in Alabama.

A system of connecting chambers possibly 100 miles long at Mammoth and Flint Ridge cave systems in Kentucky.

Man and Cave in America

The first human visitors braved the cave darkness in search of shelter possibly 20,000 years ago, according to tests of spearheads found among the bones of mammoths and other long-extinct animals dug up in a New Mexican cave.

In Russell Cave, Alabama, scientists on an expedition sponsored by the National Geographic Society uncovered evidence of a 4,000-year-old killing: the skeleton of a man apparently struck a fatal blow by the spearhead that lay buried near his spine.

Explorers of Mammoth Cave found the victim of a 2,000-year-old accident: the well-preserved mummy of an Indian crushed by a falling rock apparently as he hunted for walls lined with gypsum, prized for making ceremonial war paint.

A Kentucky cave explorer, Floyd Collins, died in probably the most sensational and widely publicized rescue attempt. He was hunting a cave to attract tourists when he entered Sand Cave on January 30, 1925.

He violated all rules of safe caving: he told no one where he was going, he went alone, and without extra lantern fuel. Squeezing down a crawlway, Collins was pinned by a falling watermelon-sized rock. He was finally found, but forced to lie there, cold and suffering from exposure, for two weeks while rescuers vainly tried to reach him in time.

South Milam Cancer Crusade Reports All-Time Success

The South Milam County Unit of the American Cancer Society in concluding its annual Crusade reports the most successful year in its history, according to unit officials.

The Unit's total giving was $4,384, which is 157 percent of the Unit's best previous year. Mrs. W. I. Skinner, who served as Crusade chairman reports $3,976 given through the crusade with an additional $408 in memorial contributions.

Rev. Bob Wimberly, president of the South Milam County Unit, accepted the "Golden Achievement Award" for the local unit at a district meeting in Waco. The award is given in recognition of those counties which have reached 32 percent per capita or more.

Kent L. Copenhaver, chairman of the Texas Board of Directors, said in congratulating the unit, "Through the efforts of people to whom you set an example, we will find a cure for cancer. . . the disease we are all so vitally interested in finding a cure for in our lifetime. . ."

Mrs. Skinner expressed her thanks to the captains, block workers, and others who helped make the campaign a success. Special recognition went to Mrs. Edith Arrington, Harold Staffelbach, and Mrs. Joe Wright.

Mr. Pelzel was born in Falls County. He was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church and was self-employed as a mechanic.

Requiem Mass was sung at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at St. Ann's Catholic Church of Rosebud by the Rev. Ray Widacki. Burial was in the Clover Hill Cemetery at Lott.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Irene Pelzel; a son, William Pelzel of Rosebud; four brothers, Fritz and Ben Pelzel of San Angelo; Henry Pelzel of East Bernard and John Pelzel of Lott; five sisters, Mrs. Mary Dreyer of Miles, Mrs. Frita Ballard of Dallas, Mrs. Adolph Hering of Westphalia, Mrs. Henry Fuchs of Temple and Mrs. Jim Zeleski of Troy; and a granddaughter.

L. D. Shaw, 60, of Houston and formerly of Rockdale, died Friday in San Antonio.

Mr. Shaw was born in Rockdale, the son of Ossie and Lulla McNeil Shaw. He had been employed by the City of Houston for the past 35 years. He was a member of the Church of Christ and the Masonic Lodge in Houston.

Funeral was at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Phillips and Luckey Funeral Home. Burial was in the Sandy Creek Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Reba Shaw; two sons, Ossie L. and Gerald W. Shaw of Houston; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Matthews of Houston and Mrs. Bonnie Hall of Cherokee, Okla.; his mother, Mrs. Lulla Shaw of Gause; four brothers, James M. Vernon and Delmo Shaw of Gause and Ossie Shaw of Cameron; three sisters, Mrs. O. Z. Davenport of Rockdale, and Mrs. Cleo Green and Mrs. Lila B. Cass of Gause; and eight grandchildren.

cannot speak, and will not attempt to speak for the Administration, but for one Member of Congress, I can assure these Asian people... that I have no intention of voting to abandon them or to embrace the Red Chinese," he said.

Poage said the confidence of people in that part of the world "has been seriously shaken by our precipitous retreat from Vietnam."

They fear that the same thing will happen in South Korea and Taiwan, he added.

"The present government of Red China," Poage continued, "is the same government which invaded and conquered the people of Tibet. . . . Although recognition of this government is urged by almost every group of extremists and radicals in the United States, there has never been an election, in the sense that we understand the word, since the establishment of this government."

"It is definitely a self-perpetuated oligarchy in which the people have no voice. It is a government which continues to charge the United States with all kinds of wrongful acts."

"It is a government which has attacked its own closest friend, the Soviet Union. It is a government openly dedicated to the destruction of South Korea and of the Republic of China (Taiwan)."

"I simply can't see why we should do anything to support, advance or strengthen such a government and I trust the President has no such intention."

SMALL MEASURE

Of all things — a man measuring his religion with an eye-dropper. An eye-dropper is used to administer small doses of medicine but it is not proper in the realm of religion. The mercy of God is an ocean divine, a boundless and fathomless deep. An eye-dropper is much too small to convey riches so abundant. How unfortunate is that life that will attempt to take the bounties of God with an eye-dropper. Yet, there are those among us who are satisfied with second-hand religion... the kind a man gets when he attempts to let his wife do his church-going for him. God seeks to talk to all of us direct. Mister, He doesn't want your wife delivering yours via the eye-dropper. Go to church... listen to the Divine voice of God as He seeks to pour His infinite grace and goodness into your soul. Don't be satisfied with such small measure... an eye-dropper full.

Popular Beef Fondue Party Can Be Staged Now at Lower Cost

Lower beef prices suggest serving Fondue Bourguignonne or discriminating gourmets or hungry friends. If you haven't staged a fondue party yet, now's the time to do it. 2 to 2½ pounds sirloin steak, cut 1 inch thick

Salad oil

Cut sirloin steak into 1-inch cubes. Pour oil in a deep chafing dish or fondue pan to a depth of 1½ to 2 inches. (Pan should be no more than half full.) Place over direct heat on range and bring to 375°F. Take pan containing oil to table (using caution) and place over alcohol burner or canned heat to maintain temperature.* Spear steak cubes, one at a time, with fondue fork and hold meat in the hot oil until cooked to desired degree of doneness. Cube will be rare in approximately 1 minute, medium in 2 minutes. Dip each cube in one of accompanying sauces.

*If oil cools so it no longer bubbles briskly when meat is added, reheat on range to 375°F.

Creamy Garlic Dip

1 cup dairy sour cream

¼ teaspoon garlic salt

Blend sour cream and garlic salt. Cover tightly and refrigerate until ready to serve. Yield: 1 cup.
